YOUTH QUIZZED IN MURDER OF WARREN WOMAN

Victim's Body Is Found Beside Dog's On Flaming Bed

HAD BEEN STABBED IN LEFT TEMPLE

Spouse Unable To Provide Possible Motive For Crime

SALEM, May 23.—Police questioned a 20-year-old youth today in the slaying of Mrs. Warren, 22, whose unclothed body was found last night beside her dead dog on a flaming bed.

Mrs. Warren had been stabbed in the left temple.

The youth withheld the youth's identity and did not immediately place blame against him.

James J. C. Henshaw, after an investigation of the young woman's death, described it as "a plain case of murder."

The body was found on the bed of Mrs. Warren's bedroom and it was said it evidently had been there to stab both Mrs. Warren and the dog, a small fox terrier. The dog was found in her arms when she broke into the house.

Husband At Work
Mrs. Warren's body was so badly injured that Coroner Henshaw said he could not determine immediately whether the head wound or the stab wound was the immediate cause of death.

The dog, he said, had been stabbed behind the left ear. Coroner Henshaw said the body was unclothed when found, with a towel wrapped around it.

The woman had been struck in the head and several teeth were knocked out, he said. Her jaw was broken.

James F. Robin, 23, the woman's husband who went to work at 4 p. m. in the printing department of the Republic Steel corporation, said the police no assistance in finding a possible motive for the crime.

No One Seen
Neighbors heard no screams and saw no one leaving the house at the time of the crime. The firemen were called to confine the blaze to the room. They said they found no one in the room and the fire apparently had been started with matches.

The Robins were married about a year ago.

Religence Is Hit In Filing of Bills
Approximately $1,800 is in escrow for the payment of merchandise to the relief clients in this city, for which merchants have furnished invoices prior to April 15 as announced at the county offices in Lisbon today. Unless these invoices are filed on or before May 25, it is doubtful when such bills will be paid.

We cannot understand why merchants are so negligent in certifying invoices," Acting Relief Director M. R. Paul said. "Relief funds have been issued in good faith, and funds appropriated for payment of such bills when they are filed within proper time limit. We follow that serious trouble will follow to secure payment of old bills for orders issued prior to April 15, unless certification is made by May 25," Director Paul declared.

CAMPAIGN TEAM LEADERS NAMED

Preliminary Plans For Community Drive Completed

With the selection of team captains, Mayor Norman Phillips, chairman of the Community Chest campaign, announced today the completion of all preliminary arrangements for the campaign which will start with an organization meeting next Monday night.

He has named the following as leaders of various groups which will be in charge of solicitation Tuesday and Wednesday:

Campaign manager, L. P. Metzger; chairman, executive committee, Andrew MacLeod; captains of team:

Shop team, Frank Bolen; school team, E. S. Kerr; hospital team, Miss Esther Wilson; Team No. 1, Loxer Caplan; No. 2, A. E. Beardsmore; No. 3, Twing Seeds; No. 4, Joel H. Sharp; No. 5, R. S. McCulloch; No. 6, Miss Zillah Stamp; No. 7, Mrs. M. K. Bertoletti; No. 8, Mary Doyle.

Director Issues Project Appeal

LISSON, May 23.—Anticipating a "reasonable" allotment of funds to Columbiana county for works division projects at an early date, Acting Relief Director M. R. Paul today issued a call to city, village and township officials to immediately submit "worthwhile" projects for immediate consideration. Boards of education have also been petitioned to participate in this proposed program.

Officials of these taxing districts have been urged to immediately prepare a list of projects not later than May 27, which they have been unable to submit heretofore because of lack of local funds.

This record, it has been explained, is purely a preliminary tabulation, and should be estimated roughly. The aim of the PERA is to secure a large number of constructive projects, in order that the department can allot work on a basis of the availability of labor and funds.

Mail, School Road Improvement Sought

A special meeting of the Columbiana County Trustees and Clerks' association has been called for Tuesday night in No. 1 court room in Lisbon for the purpose of adopting a resolution petitioning further improvement of mail and school roads in this county. Claim is made that this county should participate to a large extent in the employment of the $8,000,000 federal funds earmarked for this county for relief employment purposes. The resolution will be forwarded to authorities at Columbus.

Harry Striver, secretary-treasurer of the Township and Clerks' association in Ashtabula county, will be the guest speaker at this group meeting.

WELFARE DRIVE KEEPS MEMORIAL BUILDING GOING

Sports, Community Center One of Best In Eastern Ohio

WAS PROVIDED BY LATE W. H. MULLINS

Survey Shows Varied Interests Are Served By Project

A portion of the $15,000 set as the goal for Salem's annual Community chest drive, scheduled Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week will be used in maintaining the World War Memorial building, one of the most beneficial municipal sports and community centers of its kind in eastern Ohio.

Ten years ago, Salem's athletic activities consisted of four baseball teams in the shop league, one basketball team, no volleyball, no horseshoes, no softball, no gym work—in fact, the boy and the girl, the young man and young woman, were the "forgotten people" of that particular era here.

Figures Are Changed

Through the beneficence of the late W. H. Mullins, a World War Memorial building was built. As a result, the figures were changed. Today Joe M. Kelley, manager of the building, lists 28 ball teams instead of four; 70 basketball teams instead of one; volleyball for men and girls; horseshoes; weight lifting; gym work; egg hunts; dancing; bridge; kindergarten; music; playgrounds and other special events such as hiking, basketball tournaments, ping pong, etc.

Kindergarten is operated nine months each year with a nominal fee of 50 cents being charged. The classes are in charge of Miss Harriet Percival, assisted by Mrs. Paul Covert.

Boys above the fourth grade school age learn to play basketball in the gym, hold regular practices and thereby make good use of spare moments, rather than loitering around the streets.

Centennial park playground is operated each summer and plans at present call for the maintenance of two school playgrounds this season, to give smaller children a chance to play and teach them the spirit of fair play.

CONCEDE BONUS BILL IS LOST

Sen. Borah Takes Floor To Debate In Favor Of Measure

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 23.—As Patman bonus bill supporters conceded their campaign to override President Roosevelt's veto was lost, Senator Borah (R., Idaho) today urged the senate to pass the $2,200,000,000 inflationary measure.

"I make no concealment, I offer no apology," he said. "The belief that the country needs a larger volume of money, a larger volume of currency, for that reason I believe this bill is in harmony with the interests of the entire country."

As the momentous vote, expected late in the afternoon, neared, Senator Long (D., La.), who had been optimistic of over-riding the veto, predicted the administration would win by five votes.

Democratic leaders said so far as they knew they had not lost a single one of the 35 votes cast against the bill two weeks ago and predicted the final roll call would show almost 40 votes to uphold the President.

Will Present Play In Winona Church

Harris class members of the Christian church of Salem will present the three-act play, "Rainbow Inn," at the Methodist Episcopal church in Winona at 8 p. m. Friday. Special music for the performance will be presented by Tyrus Schwartz and Mrs. Henry Sheen, accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Berry.

Characters and cast include: William Barnes, Burrows Jones, Jimmy Barnes, Robert Shaffer, Mortimer Darnes, Lowell Brown; Joshua Pantek, Wilbur Lyons; Alonzo Pantek, Albert Hanna; Percy De Jones, Richard Wilson; Prof. Peter Dinglepaugh, Tyrus Schwartz; Sam Johnson, Charles Wilhelm; Hedy Barnes, Mrs. Ada Clay; Sally Barnes, Merle Stratton; Alice Brewster, Ruth Moff; Mehtable and Penelope Fritters, Ruth Lyons and Helen Brown; Jennie Wilson, Alice Stallsmith; Elsie Langden, Betty Kennedy.

BENEFIT ENTERTAINMENT AND DANCE BY LADIES' SINGING SOCIETY, 7:30 TO 9 P. M. SAT. GEM HALL, R. R. ST. ADM. 35c.

Hear Bonus Message From Crowded Galleries

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, first lady of the land and Josephus Daniels, U. S. ambassador to Mexico, were among the notable gathering that was on hand to hear President Roosevelt's veto speech on the Patman bonus bill before a joint session of congress. The chamber and the galleries were filled before the chief executive's unprecedented appearance.

FILL TOWNSHIP SCHOOL POSTS

30 Teachers Appointed For Western Rural District

LISSON, May 23.—Seven vacancies exist in the teaching staff in the Western Rural school district, composed of Knox, West, Hanover and Butler townships, it was announced today by W. E. Roberia, County Supt. of Schools.

The board of education of this recently created district has elected 30 teachers.

Schools for which no teachers have been appointed include: Coffee, Bridgewater, Courageville, Mill, Sunny Hill, Homeworth, Wild Duck.

Schools to which teachers have been elected are:

J. M. Gruber, Camps; Erma Bloomfield, Center; Dorothy Miller, Fairview; Roy Ober, McCann; Lorna Sanor, Valley; Martha Rupert, Votaw's; R. G. Hadley, Highland; Wilbur Meiser, Winona; Leora Weaver, Buzzard's Glory; Eldon Vandergrift, Dunganon; Jean Binsley, Guilford.

Mary Andre, Horner's Nest; Roy Sanor, New Garden; Sylvia Nettrout, Richey; Earl G. Miller, Hanoverton; Lucile Gristen, Mile Branch; Helen Crist, Number Six; Lucile Stanley, North Georgetown; Marguerite Keister, Prospect Hill; Juanita Falsch, Oak Ridge; Maynard Falson, Union Grove.

Asks Divorce From His Wife In Paris

LISSON, May 23.—Howard E. Pitts, residing near East Palestine, has filed a divorce petition in common pleas court here against his wife, Denyse, of 85 Rue de Clary, Paris, France.

It is shown by the petition that the couple married June 16, 1919, and that one son, now 13, is with the defendant. Pitts has also related in his petition that an amicable arrangement has been made with the defendant for the custody and education of the son. Pitts sets up the ground of willful absence as a cause for divorce.

Mahoning County Given Two Schools

LISSON, May 23.—A small section of the former Butler township school district has been eliminated from the recently created Western Rural School district by the county board of education.

Two schools in this district are Ash Ridge and Willowvale, and the will be transferred to the Goshen school district of Mahoning county. All other schools in Knox, Butler, West and Hanover townships will be included in new Western Rural district.

SENATE VOTE KILLS BONUS

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The senate today blocked enactment of the Patman inflationary bonus bill by refusing to pass the legislation over the president's veto.

The vote was 54 to 40. The senate originally passed the Patman bill 55 to 38. The house yesterday voted to override the veto by 322 to 98.

The senate action killed the bill, but opened the way for a new drive for similar legislation. Cash bonus forces were ready to offer an alternate proposal as a "ride" to the pending naval appropriation bill.

President Roosevelt was having a meeting of the allotment board when the vote came. He was notified immediately but made no comment. Gratification was expressed elsewhere at the White House.

14 WILL TAKE POLICE EXAMS

Session Will Be Held At High School Instead Of City Hall

Fourteen applicants will take the examination Friday for possible appointment as patrolmen here, to W. Harris, secretary of the civil service commission announced today.

This is one of the largest number of applicants at any one time in recent years, Mr. Harris said and, as a result, the exams, which originally were scheduled for the city hall, will be held in one of the rooms at the high school building. The examination will begin at 7:30 p. m.

CHANGTSE, Hunan Province, China, May 23.—Chinese reports today said 100 passengers aboard a small steamer approaching Tingschih, on the Tshui river, 50 miles north-east of here, were burned to death when the vessel's boilers exploded.

Dr. J. F. Steele, Dentist In Lisbon, Suffers Stroke

LISSON, May 23.—Dr. J. F. Steele, dentist, is ill at his home here today following a stroke which he suffered last night while watching a baseball game at the county fairground.

Dr. Steele for many years has been interested in sports, and was active in county bridge circles.

52 Patients At Clinic In Lisbon

LISSON, May 23.—Fifty-two patients from the county, exclusive of East Liverpool and Salem territory, attended the chest clinic held here last night. Five physicians conducted the clinic.

CLASS TO HEAR DR. McMASTER

Fairfield High School Graduates Get Diplomas Tonight

Dr. W. H. McMaster, president of Mount Union college, will be the speaker at the commencement exercises for Fairfield township High School tonight. The graduation program will be held in the school auditorium.

Award Diplomas
A. E. Wiler will award diplomas to the graduates and the school orchestra will provide music during the evening. Gene Esterly will be class valedictorian and Ray McCormick, salutatorian. Presentation of the class of 1935 will be made by H. D. Evans, P. C. Albright will give the opening prayer and John H. Siller, benediction.

Baccalaureate service of Fairfield school was held last Sunday night in the school auditorium with the entire program in charge of the East Fairfield Methodist church, led by Rev. T. J. Maxwell.

The junior-senior banquet, held recently in the gymnasium, was followed by a theater party. The banquet was prepared by members of the Portnightly club and served by a group of six sophomore boys and girls.

Salem Grangers Will Give Program

A debate "Resolved: That we should patronize the home owned stores rather than the chain store" will feature Friday evening's session of Salem Grange, Mrs. Radie Zimmerman and John Yates will debate the affirmative side of the question, while Mrs. Price Cope and William Satterthwaite will have the negative.

Mrs. William Satterthwaite will discuss the topic, "What Kind of Food Should My Family Have This Time of Year?" Roll call response will be "A Favorite General and Something He Said or Did." Anna Phillips will give a reading, "The Phil Memorial Day," and Elsie Whinnery a reading, "The Purple Hat."

No Recruits

BIG BOMBER HITS OCEAN DURING 'WAR' TACTICS AT NIGHT

Aviators Forming Crew of Seaplane 627 Go To Their Deaths Apparently Without Knowing What Happened, Officers Say

TRAGEDY BOOSTS CASUALTIES TO 8

Two Collisions, Without Injuries to Personnel Reported; Two Destroyers Ram Battleships During Refueling Maneuvers

(By Associated Press)
ABOARD BATTLESHIP PENNSYLVANIA IN MID-PACIFIC FLEET MANEUVERS, May 23.—Six naval fliers on a mercy flight were killed when their huge patrol plane crashed during the United States fleet maneuvers in mid-Pacific, commanding officers revealed today aboard the flagship Pennsylvania.

The aviators, forming the crew of the seaplane 6P7, went to their deaths without knowing what happened, officers said, after shattered remains of the craft had been picked up.

The tragedy occurred Tuesday night but was not disclosed until today after all hope for the men's lives had been abandoned.

The victims, and their home addresses:

Lieut. Harry A. Brandenburger, 37, executive officer of the flight squadron, Belleville, Ill.
Lieut. Charles Joseph Skelly, 30, San Francisco.
P. C. Lits, aviation chief machinist's mate, Ocean View, Va.
Chief Radioman F. M. Derry, (no address).
P. J. Poteau, aviation machinist's mate, third class, Heaven, Okla.

The tragedy brought the fatalities from the unprecedented maneuvers to eight, seven of whom have died in airplane crashes. The eighth was killed in the collision of two destroyers. Three airplanes have been lost in mid-Pacific during the maneuvers, and four destroyers damaged in three collisions.

The 6P7, one of the giant bombing patrol planes that made the first hazardous flight from Hawaii to Midway Island, crashed at night 30 miles south of Midway, and 4,900 miles from the Pacific coast.

Going to "Rescue"
She had pulled out of a flight formation to call nearby surface craft to the rescue of her sister-ship the 6P10, which had been forced to land on the heavy seas. It was while circling over the 6P10 during the night that something suddenly went wrong—no one knew what—and the huge bomber crashed into the ocean apparently in full flight.

All that remained of the craft when the area was combed by warships and airplanes, was her smashed gas tank, a shattered wing tip and a seat cushion.

The scene of the crash was searched for more than 24 hours by destroyers, air squadrons and cruisers, but Rear Admiral Alfred W. Johnson, commanding the patrol planes, reported the quest was fruitless. He said all hope of recovering the bodies had been given up.

The fleet was ordered to return to Hawaii, where the advance units were due Saturday morning.

The 6P7 and the 6P10 were in one of two squadrons of big flying patrols which flew out of Midway Tuesday to make a mimic attack on Vice Admiral Harris Langing's white fleet.

The squadron flew over the advance formation of the fleet at 7 p. m. An hour and 12 minutes later the 6P10 lost the power of one engine and was forced to land on the big ocean waves.

Then the 6P7 left the squadron and started circling over her disabled sister-ship, sending radio signals so nearby ships could use

"Best Lines"

PASO ROBLES, Cal., May 23.—Mrs. Rogers and I were poking down the road, and listening to the president's speech. I don't care if you are for or against the bonus. You have to admit he made what the lawyers call a mighty good brief, and he made Mr. Long swallow his boasts that the president "was nothing but a politician and wouldn't dare to veto the bill."

The best line he had was, "We have enough for everybody, but we haven't got all they want."

And say, you got to give that Hitler credit; he come through with some facts that these other nations are going to have to do some studying, to think up answers to. His best line was, "A tank is a tank, a bomb is a bomb, no matter what nation has it."

GOOD GOVERNMENT PLACED FIRST

President Roosevelt made some new friends and embittered some old enemies Tuesday by his Patman bill veto message. He changed few congressional votes, for the simple reason the bonus issue is not being waged on a basis of reason. It is almost entirely a question of practical politics, particularly in the house of representatives. A few minutes after the presidential message had been heard, the house refused to sustain the veto by an overwhelming vote of 322 to 98. An immediate vote was blocked by bonus leaders in the senate, whose members do not come up for reelection so frequently as house members and are, therefore, more susceptible to appeals for a display of courage in defiance of the bonus bloc.

Mr. Roosevelt's message is the most complete statement of the position occupied by opponents of prepayment of the bonus ever made. It contains, in addition, a clear explanation of the President's opposition to the inflationary heresy placed in the Patman bill by the inflation bloc. From the standpoint of reason, there is nothing lacking in the message. Whatever President Roosevelt's administration may undergo at the hands of the bonus and inflation blocs, the President, himself, has given posterity an unequivocal explanation of his views. Pussfooting and solicitation of bonus and inflation votes he has left entirely to the opportunist congressmen whom he knew weren't going to support him.

As a demonstration of courage, President Roosevelt's blunt message was admirable. Those who admitted it, however, aren't organized. It was not, therefore, a demonstration of good politics. Yet, it is heartening to believe that in this instance Mr. Roosevelt deliberately placed his duty to the whole country higher than the favor he could have won with a pressure group which has coerced a majority of congressmen into making "good politics" the guiding rule for their votes. Good government demands something a little more noble than good politics.

HENRY FORD MAKES NEWS

Whatever else his critics say about Henry Ford, they never get a chance to say he has ceased to be worthy of their attention. He is always suspected of having something in reserve to revive interest in himself and his enterprise, and so far he always has justified the suspicion. His peace ship during the World war, his $5 a day minimum wage, his introduction of Model A, his refusal to fall in line behind the blue eagle and his expensive determination to raise wages at the beginning of the depression come to mind readily as examples of the Henry Ford saga of spectacular individualism, a saga that started years ago with his determination to give his countrymen a cheap, efficient automobile.

Mr. Ford has made news again with an increase in the daily wage scale for his employees, from $5 to $6. That is one dollar less than his experimental depression scale of $7 and the same as the minimum wage level in Ford plants at the height of the boom. It will cost the Ford Motor Co. $20,000,000 a month more for wages, but unlike the $7 scale it is not believed to represent direct loss. Mr. Ford is the most prominent of industrial supporters of the creed that high wages make prosperity. That is a fundamental point in his highly individualist, philosophy of mass production.

One guess as to the effect of the $6 minimum wage scale is as good as another. Mr. Ford, himself, is guessing, we suppose. But in general, the guessing concerns only the possible good effects. Few Americans, whether they are enthusiastic over Mr. Ford's accomplishments as an industrialist or not, are willing to believe he will do himself or his country any harm by increasing the incomes of his 125,000 employees. They are willing to concede he has produced another ace. It's even possible they may be feeling a blush of admiration for his exhibition of old-fashioned individualism.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, May 23—I saw what began as a mild curb argument over parking space reach the climax of a street riot on 7th avenue in the 30's last evening. It was the first real fist fight, toe to toe, slugging, I've seen since Cincinnati's Over-the-Rhine days and I enjoyed it thoroughly.

Two halves and well proportioned young men arrived at a space the same time and scraped fenders. There were a few snarling epithets exchanged, then a loud wordy wrangle and the two stepped from their cars, removed their coats and shadow boxed a bit.

Finally one put over a healthy punch and closed in. They rained blow after blow on each other until each face was puffed and grey. Then they rested a moment and without a word sprang into action. An enormous crowd blocked the street and police had difficulty breaking through.

When they did the battle had become so ferocious they had to use their clubs. Soon the screaming riot cars roared up. An entire block was impassable. The belligerents, who had been rather spiffily dressed, were led bleeding and in shreds to a patrol wagon. It was quite a show.

Jack's all night restaurant somehow incubated fist fights nightly in its day. There was scarcely a dawn that several were not carried out feet up as the result of healthy swings. Bustanoby's on 39th street was another generating ground for slugfest, usually college boys. At Jack's a waiter named "Red" separated combatants by giving them what was known as "the thumb"—cruel but effective. He would dip his thumb in a mustard pot and jab it in their eyes.

There is a legend that many of the famous Billy Baxter Letters, teeming with the sophistications and brisk humors of another decade, were written at a table in Jack's. Downstairs was the Batting Nelson Grill, usually in an indignant twirl of fists, where Hype Igot strummed his cigar box ukelele and the beloved cartoonist Tad got so many of his cartoon ideas and laughed himself out of a thousand traips for Great Neck. Good old Tad! No passing in newspaperdom left a greater void.

Grandma, confusing the pool hall and bowling alley, used to call out as we started forth in the evening: "Stay away from that poolin' alley!" So it is nice to hear that the Waldorf has snatched the pool table from its Joe's two-and-a-half-cents-a-cue stigma for a little duding up. The hotel has set aside a cream and gold suite on the 17th floor for several pocket billiard-pool to most of us—tables. It is called The Carom Club and the board of governors includes such biggies as the Walter P. Chrysler, John Jacob Astor, Mrs. Duke Biddle, Madame Jeritza and Princess—what a pip for gargling!—Dolly Oloensky.

I have been reading an essay by Winnifred King Rugg on the wonder and writer of words. She finds so many lovely words begin with sn. Such as snag, snarl, sneer, sneeze, snicker, snivel, snoop and snort. She loves the word chalcidoid but has never found a place to use it. A more beautiful word in my opinion is hyacinth. Ford Madox Ford thinks one of the attractive words is troubadour. One of the Poets—so many I forget which—is a constant user of nutrient. Christopher Morley is fond of irrelevant. The elder Pulitzer dragged in paradoxical whenever he got the chance. Shakespeare was especially fond of sullen and Dickens of lustre. Chesterton thinks the word that best expresses what it means is radiate.

Thingumabobs: Charles and Kathleen Norris will leave California if the 15 per cent state tax on incomes is passed. Damon Runyon is 55 years old. Cornelius Vanderbilt always rides in an upper Pullman berth. A gesture to democracy. Paul Whitman has taken up flying and vice versa. Tony Sarg has quit Greenwich Village for the artist colony on West 67th street. Clare Booth Luce's apartment has a room of mirror-covered furniture. Percy Crosby, with four studios in his Potomac home, works with a drawing board against the piano in the living room. The Kent Coopers are building a mansion in Miami.

Texans have many odd ejaculations that so often hit the mark. Such as "hoot nanny on the hickey" for some inconsequential. Rounding a turn in the park with a long horn as the dying sun glinted the lacy skyline of mosques, minarets and towers, he exclaimed: "Sweet cookie!" That sums it up—a cookie with icing!

THE STARS SAY

For Friday, May 24.

A very lively and eventful day is forecast from the prevailing lunar transits. Business and all pertaining to writings, publishing and promotion may thrive, but there is a menace in speculative interests as well as in making loans. It would be well to shun all impetuous and reckless conduct.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may plan for a very lively and enterprising year, although it would be wise to refrain from financial plunges, speculations and loans. There is indication of travel with pleasure and success.

A child born on this day may be versatile, intellectual, brilliant and have a pleasant personality. It may be prone to be rash and impulsive at times, unless given early discipline.

Notable nativity: Queen Victoria of Great Britain.

New York City

Albuminuria Sign of Disorder
ALBUMINURIA, THE presence of albumin in the urine, usually creates anxiety. As a rule, it is no more than a sign of some mild irritation of the kidney. It may be produced by excessive physical exertion or fatty diet. Persistence of albumin in a symptom that must not be neglected, because serious disturbances of the kidney may follow.

A certain amount of albumin is normally present. It is in small quantity, it is not readily detected. Accurate tests are made to discover it.

Do not become apprehensive if you are told you have albuminuria. As I have suggested it may be no more than the effect of some minor disturbance. It is a rather common finding among athletes and other persons who engage in strenuous activity.

It is often found in persons whose occupations require prolonged sitting or standing. This type is called "orthostatic" albuminuria. With rest and change of occupation, it quickly disappears.

Proteins May Cause It
Perhaps the most common cause of albuminuria is the excessive use of foods rich in proteins. Persons who live on a diet consisting of excessive quantities of meat, fish and eggs will sometimes have albuminuria. As soon as the diet is adjusted as regards these valuable foods, and the amount of protein diminished, the albuminuria disappears.

Occasionally albuminuria is found in the thin, energetic individual who lives on a normal diet and follows a pretty sensible routine. It may also be found among several members of a family. The cause of this type of albuminuria is not known, but it is believed to be due to some hereditary influence.

Do not be misled by the belief that the presence of albumin in the urine is a sign of Bright's disease. This is not so. Of course, I do not mean to imply that albuminuria should be overlooked. But in most instances you can be assured that where proper eating, rest and hygienic care are practiced albuminuria will soon disappear.

Seek Medical Advice
Often the presence of albumin can be traced to some physical defect, such as a center of infection somewhere, such as diseased teeth, nasal sinuses or tonsils. It may be the result of some digestive disturbance, constipation or other systemic disorder. The albuminuria will disappear when the exciting cause is overcome.

A person who discovers he has albuminuria should consult his physician. A complete medical examination is advised.

Excessive and strenuous activities should be avoided. I would advise against the use of very hot as well as very cold baths. The diet should consist of varied and well-balanced meals.

Dr. Copeland

WHOLE COUNTRY REJECTS CATHARTICS WHEN HONEY KRUSHED BREAD RELIEF

Constipation Sufferers Find New Health Replaces Need For Drugs and Purges For Faulty Elimination

Your doctor will tell you that the use of drugs, purges and cathartics often do serious harm instead of correcting constipation. Most of them irritate the membrane lining of the intestines and compel you to take more and more.

Realizing the wide-spread habit of resorting to drugs in so many American families, the Bakers sought a simple, natural remedy for this common ailment. After months of investigation and expensive experiment a new and secret formula was secured combining all the nutritive and nourishing tissue-building qualities of good, wholesome bread with a direct, active stimulant to sluggish bowels. And it was found in the simplest form—honey. Pleasant to the taste, healthful to a high degree and comes from nature's most beautiful source—the flowers.

Now the necessary roughage required by every healthy man, woman and child is obtainable.

Honey Krushed Wheat Bread contains the entire kernel in a natural way. It contains a liberal supply of savory, healthy, pure honey.

Make This Ten-Day Test

If you are tired and constipated and have a sallow complexion, just ten days. You will be astonished and you will be more at its delicious flavor. When it you'll swear it's full of nut.

Insist On The Original

The genuine Honey Krushed Wheat Bread can easily be identified because the outer crust contains a liberal covering of crushed wheat, already sliced cellophane wrapped with a brown covering—Adv.

FARM BUREAU'S LAWS ENACTED

Will Have Good Effect on Ohio Agriculture, Says Chairman

The Ohio Farm Bureau has secured legislative enactments that will have far-reaching beneficial effects on Ohio's agriculture, according to a statement made today by John M. Hudson, chairman of the legislative committee of the farmer cooperative.

Bills providing for the strict regulation of the quality of saleable seeds, the regulation of inspection of livestock auctions, and right of credit unions to borrow money, are among the governor's signature after having been passed with a large majority in both houses of the legislature.

Labels for Seed.

The seed bill, according to Hudson, provides that all packaged seeds be guaranteed by a package label as to germination and that all dealers of packaged seeds be licensed for the sale of such seeds. Therefore, the sale of seeds in packages of less than 10 pounds was prohibited unless the seller obtained a license, but this regulation was never fully carried out. The new law provides for a $1 license for the vendor to be paid by the consumer for which he is the agent and enforcement is complete. The bill also provides that field seeds that are "mixed" may not contain more than 3 per cent foreign material unless clearly designated on the container.

The livestock auction bill, which provides for licensing of regularly held auctions and the inspection by a state veterinarian of all livestock handled by the auction, was pushed by the farm bureau in an effort to eliminate the spread of disease and parasites. This legislation does not apply to farm sales but only to those auctions which are operated for the periodic sale of consigned livestock. Outbreaks and spread of diseases, such as hog cholera and hemorrhagic septicemia, may be held in check by these measures, Hudson indicated.

Praises Credit Bill.

The passing of the credit union bill—a bill which has been strongly backed by the farm bureau—will remove obstacles that formerly prohibited farmers from building their own system of finance, said Hudson. "The legislation enables credit unions to borrow money just as any other financial institution is capable of doing. This privilege was formerly denied. The bill permits the formation of credit unions to be founded on sound financial principles and to function as a firm but flexible credit structure for agriculture."

CHESTER, Pa.—Sentences that they be spanked by parents were meted out to three boys and an 11-year-old girl when they were arraigned before Magistrate Robert McBride on charges of "borrowing" an automobile.

Theater Attractions

Those fearless secret service men whose exploits in rounding up public enemies of the country have been told in the newspaper headlines the past year are called G-men, and "G Men" is the title of the screen's first movie of their battles with these criminals. James Cagney has the lead in this picture, to be shown at the State theater Friday and Saturday. While the picture does not present any names of public enemies and does not emphasize any time or place of actual battles, few will miss the connection of the occurrences that take place.

Cagney plays a G-man and Robert Armstrong his superior officer. Margaret Lindsay, Armstrong's sister, is the girl with whom Cagney is in love.

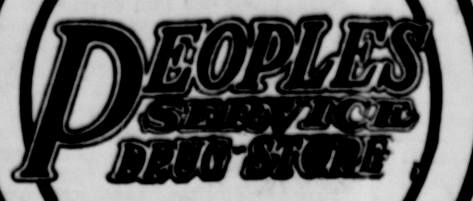

Ann Dvorak portrays a night club entertainer who knows too much about the underworld to be safe. She is in love with Cagney, but when her affection is not returned, she marries a gangster. She sings a song in the show entitled "You Bother Me an Awful Lot." Jim Cagney, reared and given an education in law school by the unknown leader of gangdom, joins the G-men to avenge the murder, by gangsters, of his college chum. Then his career is shown from the time he joins federal service, through his training period, machine gun battles to the climax in which he rounds up the notorious gang.

Through Ann Dvorak, Cagney is able to carry out the capture. The gang has kidnapped Margaret Lindsay, Cagney's sweetheart, and Ann Dvorak knows where she is. Ann calls from a telephone booth to tell Cagney, but before she can complete the call she is shot down. Cagney traces the call and arrives in time to hear from her the hiding place of the kidnapers.

Tonight is the last showing of the double feature bill, "Four Hours to Kill," starring Richard Barthelmess, and a comedy, "Spring Tonic," with Lew Ayres and Claire Trevor in the title roles.

Mrs. Paul Holwick was in charge of the devotion for the day. Refreshments were served by the hostesses and her associates, Mrs. Harriet Edgerton and Mrs. Bertha Hoopes.

Circle associates will be received

P. H. C. Has Meeting In E. Liverpool

Eleven members of the Salem Protected Home Circle were in East Liverpool Tuesday evening where they attended a banquet followed by a meeting at which time the Inner Circle degree was conferred on 20 candidates.

In addition to the 16 supreme officers from Sharon, there were visitors from Pittsburgh, Steubenville, Wheeling, W. Va., Beaver Falls, New Brighton, Zelenople and Monaca, Pa., and Toronto. Over 500 attended the meeting.

Card Party Given In K. of P. Hall

Eight tables of bridge and "500" were in play at the card party given by the Daughters of America in the K. of P. hall Wednesday evening. Prizes in the former event going to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gorman. Five hundred prizes were won by Mrs. Lloyd R. Hanna and Martin Kovash. Refreshments were served following the cards.

Another card party will be given for the public in two weeks at the hall.

at the home of Mrs. Bertha Hoopes, 388 East Fifth st., June 26.

Circle 5

An interesting and enjoyable talk by Mrs. H. J. Thompson was a feature of the meeting of Circle 5 held at the Methodist church Wednesday afternoon, the meeting following the delightful covered dinner.

Mrs. Anna Ramsey led the devotions during the session.

The next meeting of the circle will be a picnic at the home of Mrs. Edward Brudery.

Birthday Surprise Party Held

A delightful birthday surprise party was carried out Tuesday afternoon for Mrs. A. C. Prethy at the home of her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Prethy on Homewood ave. Seven of her friends were entertained during the afternoon with a delicious lunch served by Mrs. Prethy. The table was attractive with appointments in tones of green and silver. Tall green tapers in silver holders were placed at each end of the table.

A pleasant social afternoon was enjoyed. Mrs. Prethy receiving many lovely gifts.

Elks Dinner-Dance Proves Success

Approximately 60 couples enjoyed the annual May dinner and dance given by Salem Elks last evening for members of the lodge, the Ladies auxiliary and their guests. The hall was beautifully decorated with flowers and streamers in all colors.

Following the dinner, served at 7 p. m., the guests enjoyed dancing in the ballroom to music played by Finley's 10-piece orchestra. Wade Allen entertained during the dinner with vocal and banjo numbers.

Program Is Given By Bible Class

Readings and music entertained the members of the Women's Bible class of the First Presbyterian church Wednesday afternoon when they met for the monthly session in the church chapel. Refreshments were served by the social committee during the afternoon.

The class will meet June 26 at the chapel for the next session.

Mrs. Stanley French Is Honored

As a farewell courtesy to Mrs. Stanley French, who will leave the first of June for Akron to make her home, Mrs. A. Hansell received a group of friends Wednesday evening at her home on S. Lincoln ave.

Three tables of bridge were in play, honors going to Miss Myrtle Windle, Mrs. Glenn Harding and Mrs. Maude Atchison. The honor guest was presented a lovely gift.

Later Mrs. Hansell served a two-course supper, covers being laid for 14. The table made a very attractive appearance with its lace cover and orange nasturtiums and green tapers in crystal holders.

Honors Daughter At Birthday Party

As a birthday anniversary compliment to Miss Esther Swennington, her mother, Mrs. H. C. Swennington, entertained friends and relatives Wednesday evening at her home on Sharp st. Cards provided entertainment during the evening.

A feature of the delightful affair was a shower of lovely gifts for Miss Swennington. A delicious lunch was served the guests by the honoree's mother.

Out-of-town guests were from Alliance and Georgetown.

Wednesday Night Club Meets

Mrs. A. H. Fultz and D. L. Camp received high scores last evening when Wednesday night club members were entertained at dinner at the Mansion tea-house followed by cards at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. McKee on East Third st.

Tulips and lilacs formed the lovely centerpiece for the table during the dinner after which three tables of cards were in play at the McKee home.

Announce Engagement Of Salem Girl

The marriage of Mary Varinaitis, daughter of Mrs. Anna Varinaitis, 906 West Euclid, to Fred O. Redinger will be solemnized at nuptial high mass at 9 o'clock at St. Paul's Catholic church on Saturday.

Marriage License

A marriage license has been issued at Lebanon to John V. Sebo and Gertrude L. Jackson of Salem.

Miss Anna Cook and Mrs. R. A. Montgomery of South Lincoln ave. were in Akron today attending the funeral of Mrs. Mary Dottarar, 68. Mrs. Dottarar, aunt of Miss Cook.

WELFARE DRIVE AIDS BUILDING

Weight lifting classes are held each week under the able leadership of Bill Roubush and have proven popular.

Salem's own Community band, sponsored by Ray Bartholomew and Alty South Metzger, meet each week in the Memorial building for rehearsals.

The Kiwanis and Rotary clubs make their headquarters in the building.

The Farmers Institute, an annual event, brings one of the largest in-state gatherings in the state to the building.

Both boys and girls basketball tournaments are held each winter and along this line, Salem has acquired a title of a fine sports center.

The annual Easter egg hunt, one of the few features of its kind in Ohio, has always proved popular among the young generation in Salem.

Business men's volleyball classes, held twice a week throughout the winter and fall months, are popular among the men. School teachers in Salem also have a volleyball class at the building.

The Garden club, active Salem organization, makes its headquarters in the building. The Junior Book club meets monthly for social and literary gatherings. The Salem Ministerial association holds its meetings in the building.

Coal Units Convene

The Camp Fire girls gather weekly, the coal miners union meets bi-weekly, as do the coal operators. The I. O. O. F. grocers meet once a month and the Mullins Foremen club rallies in the building monthly.

Salem's Red Cross committee hold their sessions here. Church services are held each Sunday; small meetings of various kinds find the Memorial building's free rooms.

Bessie and Anna Cook, was a former Salem resident and the daughter of Henry and Mary Cook.

Mrs. W. R. Pearce spent last evening in Damascus with Mr. Pearce's mother, who has been ill.

Clean Out Kidney Poisons

Wash Out Your 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes

If kidneys don't pass 3 pints a day and get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters may become clogged with poisonous waste and the danger of acid poisoning is greatly increased. Bladder passages are difficult, which often smart and burn like scalding water and cause discomfort.

This acid condition, brought about by poor kidney functions is a danger signal and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

Most people watch their bowels which contain only 27 feet of intestines but neglect the kidneys which contain 15 miles of tiny tubes and filters. If these tubes or filters become clogged with poisons, it may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't run any risk. Make sure your kidneys empty 3 times a day.

Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, an old prescription, which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

always open to them.

Wrestling and boxing shows are staged in the community center. Several hundred persons participated in the bridge tourney this winter, a new venture which proved very popular.

Dishes and silverware are loaned to churches and lodges in the city by the Memorial building officials.

A statistical survey shows a combined attendance figure of 318,572 persons made use of the Memorial building facilities last year, proving to the general public of Salem, which 10 years ago was skeptical as to the benefits the building would provide, that it really has a useful and important place in the community, and that Salemites really are appreciative. In the 10 years of its existence, the attendance-use figure is 1,618,000 the report shows.

Salaries Are Cut

In order to continue operations during the depression the Memorial building staff was cut to two persons and the salaries of these two employees were cut in half.

Activities always are on the increase and the high standard maintained at the building is a pride to the city. To maintain the building on the same status, repairs must be made, the building painted and new equipment purchased.

Salem, through the Memorial building's direction of sports activities, is recognized by county recreation officials as the foremost sports city in the county.

In the first year, the building was operated at a cost of $22,000. Only $6,000 was used, however, during the last fiscal year to run the building.

The center is used by everyone

Wood Dismissed As Toledo Liquor Head

COLUMBUS, May 21. — Alfred Humphrey, chief of the liquor enforcement division, announced the dismissal today of Robert W. Wood, as supervisor of the Toledo district.

Although Humphrey gave as the reason the usual "for the good of the service" statement, Wood's arrest at Toledo, on charges of reckless driving and driving while intoxicated, was believed to have had a direct connection with the suspension.

Wood has been under suspension since May 9.

CHICAGO, May 23. — Awaiting senate action on the bonus veto, grain markets averaged higher early today. Sellers were showing a disposition to avoid weak spots and to confine their pressure to price bulges. Opening unchanged to ¼ lower, July 89½-¼, wheat saw scored something of an upturn. Corn started unchanged to ¼ higher, July 81-81½, and then rose all around.

Cigaret License Requests Are Slow

LONDON, May 23. — Retail dealers in cigarettes are slow in applying for 35-26 licenses. Deputy County Auditor Ray T. Adam declared today, although a "rush" for licenses is expected Saturday. So far only 15 licenses have been issued for the new term.

All dealers, both retail and wholesale, are required to have new census certificates not later than next Monday. There are approximately 350 retail dealers in the county and eight wholesalers. The retail license fee is $25 per annum, with no rebate and the wholesale license fee is $100.

Exclusive New Corkscrew Silent-Safety Tread

Note how different it is. Unlike any tire you have ever seen.

The modern, new, winding, twisting, Corkscrew tread design that has increased skid safety and tire mileage beyond anything else in the past 20 years.

It is the only tire built that does not have straight-line, sledrunner ribs. Compare with the commonly used rib type tire pictured in the circle below:

GENERAL

Corkscrew Grip, Blowout-Proof
Silent Safety Tires

TIRE SIZE	AMOUNT YOU SAVE PER TIRE
All 4.50, 4.75 and 500 sizes	$3.33 to $4.55
All 5.25 and 5.50 sizes	$4.68 to $5.24
All 6.00 and 6.50 sizes	$5.31 to $7.44
All 7.00 and 7.50 sizes	$7.56 to $13.35

All other tires have from 2 to 5 straight, smooth ribs in their treads, like the example above.

Are the tires on your new car built that way?

Also, more than half of the tires on new cars are only 4-ply—built for 30 or 40 miles per hour—not for today's Hi-Speeds, Quick Starts and Sudden Stops.

Strike Settled

CANTON, May 23.—A force of 150 men returned to work today at the plant of the Lorain Steel Co. here following settlement of a strike which began last Thursday. Earl A. Tanner, vice president and general manager, said an agreement on wages and working conditions satisfactory to both labor and management had been reached.

Tax Reports Due

COLUMBUS, May 23.—Sales tax vendors have only until the end of the month to file their initial sales tax information reports, Carlton S. Dargusch, vice chairman of the state tax commission, said today.

FARMERS VOTE IN WHEAT POLL

AAA Gets Ready for Saturday Balloting On Grain Question

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 23.—Men who grow the grain that fills the nation's bread baskets will decide Saturday whether the AAA shall continue its efforts to control their production.

Farmers throughout the wheat belt will vote upon this question: "Are you in favor of a wheat production adjustment program to follow the 1935 crop year?"

Officials announced today that far-flung arrangements for taking the poll had been completed.

Abide By Rules
Under the rules laid down by the farm administration, any farmer who produced wheat in 1929, 1930, 1931, and 1932 will be eligible to vote, whether or not he ever signed a production control contract. However, each voter must have been eligible to sign a contract. No farmer may vote more than once. Even if he operates several farms.

The polls will open at 9 a. m. and close at 8 p. m. Community committees will have charge of the actual balloting, while the county allotments committees will have charge of the referendum for each county, or for several counties if they are formed into district associations.

Community committees and the county committees will send totals to the state extension directors, who will forward the information to the AAA.

Announcement of the official vote in Washington is expected by Wednesday, May 29.

The balloting will be secret. Officials said that if the vote is favorable, a long term program might be offered the producers with a provision for an annual referendum. If this were done, it was said, the program would be based on voluntary contracts and would be for four years, 1936, 1937, 1938 and 1939.

Illinois Passes Sales Tax Measure

(By Associated Press)
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 23.—The state's 1,200,000 needy today were assured of food and shelter soon, if not immediately.

The assurance came with the enactment by the Illinois legislature of a law increasing the sales tax from two to three per cent to raise the $3,000,000 monthly which federal authorities asked the state to contribute toward the relief fund.

An end to the month-old relief crisis, which developed when funds were exhausted, came late yesterday when the senate passed an amended bill to increase the sales tax shortly after the house had passed the bill.

IRWIN'S OFFICE SETS NEW MARK

$3,062,414.64 Is Handled During 1934, Records Reveal

LISBON, May 23.—During 1934, according to records announced here today, $3,062,414.64 was handled through the office of County Auditor John H. Irwin, a new high for financial items passing through county channels. A detailed statement of these transactions was computed by Irwin J. Vondran, chief of the bookkeeping division in the auditor's office.

The computation, sheet just compiled, showing monies handled for various funds, discloses the following record:

General office collections, $43,868.38; depository interest received from banks on county funds, $5,484.66; dog license collection, $7,560.75; fines and salaries received from state to credit of county road and bridge fund, $1,108.87; undivided general real estate tax collected, $1,383,958.56; cigarette tax collections, $8,077.76; inheritance taxes collected, $15,143.33; automobile licenses, $156,994.98; automobile and gas tax, $71,085.66.

Family recovery monies received by county to be returned to state relief administration, $37.84; state Section 16 school lands, $37.02; poor relief received from state, $128,811.82; sale of products from Fairmount Children's home, $232.30; personal tax collection, $117,064.34; classified tax collection, $116,611.66.

Miscellaneous licenses, $1,756; delinquent personal tax, $43,213.67; received from townships and cities in other counties, $1,535.65; miscellaneous fees received from boards of education, $53.89; relief bonds, $143,271.50; poor relief excise tax, $138,235.87.

Advanced taxes, $186,856.35; township gas tax, $31,500; health department fund from state, $927.50; court house repairs, $90,034.67; debt fund, $1,223.61.

Liquor Hearings
COLUMBUS, May 23.—Pleased with the public's reaction to the state liquor monopoly system after its first year of operation, Chairman Wellington T. Leonard of the state liquor board, said today that the board would complete its circuit of public hearings in the state next Tuesday and Wednesday at Akron, Canton and Youngstown.

6 NAVY FLIERS DIE IN CRASH

her calls for a direction finder and proceeded to the aid of the disabled craft.

Flying Close to Surface
For 58 minutes the 6P7 circled around, having notified the Destroyer Breeze and the Cruiser Raleigh that the 6P10 was down and leaking. Apparently while cruising the 6P7 cut down her speed and had to fly close to the ocean's surface as the night darkened.

Apparently it suddenly went into a spin and dove into the ocean with a terrific crash as evidenced by the shattered wreckage found later.

Its last message was sent at 9 p. m. indicating she crashed into the ocean a short time later.

The Breeze and the Raleigh reached the scene at 10:30 p. m. and took the 6P10 in tow. They had no fears about her sister craft. Assuming she had returned to her Midway base.

A short time later it was learned the 6P7 was missing and the search by surface craft of both the Black and White fleets was immediately ordered as the unprecedented war games were temporarily forgotten.

The White fleet, enroute through the area, gave up its cover of darkness and secrecy which had been the practice throughout the six weeks maneuvers, and stabbed the night with the glaring beams of searchlights.

Aircraft were ordered by Admiral Joseph M. Rown, commander in chief of the United States fleet and umpire of the war games, to take up the search at dawn.

Wreckage Found
The wreckage and the oil slick left by the plane when it plunged into the ocean were found at 6:10 a. m. Wednesday by searching aircraft and the Cruiser Northampton, the first surface craft to reach the scene.

Officers said the wreckage clearly indicated the entire crew died without knowing they crashed.

Monday a similar tragedy was narrowly averted when another giant patrol sank. The craft became disabled 90 miles north of Midway Island, western landmark of the naval maneuvers, but succeeded in coming down safely near her tender, the Minesweeper Montgomery. The Minesweeper rescued the crew of six just before the plane sank.

These planes were among the first aircraft to fly to lonely Midway Island, 1200 miles west of Hawaii.

Two other deaths had previously marred the maneuvers.

One flier went down with his plane off Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, and one man was killed in the crash of the destroyers Lea and Sticard.

Two other collisions occurred without injury to personnel. The destroyer Decatur cut seven holes in her side when she crashed against the armor of the battleship Arizona while refueling at sea several hundred miles west of Hawaii. The holes were stopped with mattresses and an emergency wooden bulkhead, and she returned safely to Pearl Harbor.

Not far away on the same day the destroyer Buchanan crushed her starboard propeller when she crashed against the flagship Pennsylvania's armor. This also was during fueling from a battleship on the high seas, work normally done from oilers which were left behind to permit the fleet maneuvers with greater speed.

"Crucial" Battle Fought
She returned with the Decatur to her Hawaiian base.

The crucial battle of the maneuvers between the black and white fleets was fought at dawn Wednesday, a few miles off Midway. Throughout the night destroyers carried out devastating torpedo attacks, but the main engagement, although it was the first to start at dawn in the history of the maneuvers, lacked the greatest spectacular thrills and the much-anticipated power of the aircraft which did not participate.

After the battle and the fruitless search for the doomed airmen, the fleet turned toward Hawaii, where it will arrive Saturday and Sunday.

Forty patrol planes begin the return flight from Midway to Hawaii Thursday, stopping en route at French Frigate shoals.

Dog Won't Behave; His Doom Near
This police dog just won't behave and so its owner, a Salem man, wants him killed.

He makes an appeal to County Auditor John H. Irwin in the following letter:

"I own a police dog but I can't keep him longer. He makes too much trouble for me and other persons. He barks all night and day, and he doesn't listen. I gave him different medicine and dog feed, and every one in my family is good to him, but I can't make a good dog out of him. Please take this dog from me and kill him."

Auditor Irwin says "I guess we'll have to accommodate the owner."

Crooked Pennies
SAN FRANCISCO, May 23.—Two thousand crooked pennies were turned in to the United States mint by George Weston Pierson, Del Piedra rancher.

The huge stack represented an accumulation of 20 years of damaged coins, Pierson said.

CINCINNATI, O.—The thief who robbed Albert Russell, Cincinnati, recently was an obliging sort of a chap. Returning home from work one night, Russell found a suit of clothes missing and a note from the robber which said: "Your suit is in a pawnshop under the name of Henry Jones of Barr Street. I'm on my way to Chicago."

K. of C. Head

Frank G. Jones, Cleveland attorney, was chosen state deputy for the coming year by the Knights of Columbus of the Ohio district, at their state convention held in Cincinnati this week.

Mr. Jones, who was recently appointed chairman of the National Eucharistic Congress committees of the Greater Cleveland District chapter, succeeds Wm. A. Krupp, of Fremont, as state deputy of the order.

Substantial increases in membership throughout the state during the past year were reported as a part of the convention proceedings.

Resolutions were passed, pledging support and co-operation in connection with the National Eucharistic Congress which is to be held in Cleveland on September 23, 24, 25 and 26.

Toledo was chosen as the convention city for 1936.

MOTHER SAYS NEW LAXATIVE BREAD IS "VERY HELPFUL"

"A Most Delicious Taste . . . My Kiddies Love It . . . Wouldn't Be Without It" . . . Says Mrs. Paul Hoffhouse of Louisville, Kentucky.

Mrs. Hoffhouse's experience with PRUN-O-WHEAT Bread, the natural laxative food, is typical of that of thousands of wives and mothers right here in this vicinity.

Read what she says about this wonderful new bread which would be as white as the whitest bread on the market if it were not for the concentrated prune juice added to it . . . and yet, strangely enough, it doesn't have the prune TASTE—only its well-known health benefits.

Here's Mrs. Hoffhouse's story in her own words:

"After being advised of PRUN-O-WHEAT by my grocer, I purchased a loaf and found it to be an excellent food. I would not be without it now as I find it is very helpful to us and has a most delicious taste. My advice to everyone is to purchase a loaf of PRUN-O-WHEAT and try it and I am sure you will be convinced. My kiddies love it and if I forget to purchase it, they always remind me to do so."

PRUN-O-WHEAT Bread is a delightful new food that everyone in the family goes for in a big way! Toasted, it's simply delicious. And its two NATURAL laxative ingredients—concentrated prune juice and flaked wheat—provide a gentle, natural stimulant and a soft bulk without excessive roughage.

MAKE 14-DAY TEST

"The Cold Finger Curse"

by EDWIN DIAL TORGERSON

CHAPTER XXXIV

"Let me get this straight now," the manager, using a small screwdriver, dismantled the instrument before him as he talked, noting serial numbers as he encountered them. "You wish to know whether this telephone has been provided lately with a new mouthpiece, and if possible how lately. And you have another instrument of the same type as this, is it?"

Montigny told him it was the telephone removed from Violet Elderbank's bedroom. "Let me sketch for you a hypothetical case. You are my enemy and I am plotting murder," the manager smiled at him, not very mirthfully. "I wish to incriminate you," continued Montigny. "I desire that your finger-prints shall be found at the scene of the crime. I have access to your home. I know that your telephone receiver, which you touch constantly, must have upon it numerous examples of your finger-prints. The mouthpiece particularly, which you have touched many times in adjusting the instrument, must have your finger-prints on it."

"Ugh! thought, but interesting," murmured the manager. "Very well. Within a few seconds, time I unscrew the mouthpiece of your telephone and quickly substitute another which I have had in my pocket. At the scene of the crime there is a telephone of similar type—not one of the new French phones."

"It almost was," interrupted the manager. "I recall now that we had a complaint from Mrs. Elderbank when she first moved in—she claimed a French type receiver had been ordered, but we found no record of it. We offered to make the change at once, but she said never mind, she wouldn't bother."

"So? Had it been a French telephone the scheme would not have worked—the mouthpiece, of course, being different."

"But it did work, you think, in this instance?"

"I am hoping you will prove that for me."

"I'll do my best. Now let me have the serial numbers on the Elderbank phone."

"Here they are," said Montigny. "And I shall take along this mouthpiece of Thurber's telephone, if you do not mind. I must protect the finger-prints we found upon it. Photographs have been made, but it is better to preserve the original."

"I'll try to let you hear from me this afternoon, or tomorrow at the latest," promised the manager. Outside again, Montigny hailed a taxicab. "The Art Mart—a shop on Eighth Street between Fifth and Sixth Avenues," he told the driver. Why he was going there he did not precisely know. He was not impelled by an overpowering desire to see St. Gregory Valcour's watercolor masterpiece, Goldfish, surrounded by Blue. But he smelled a rat, an artistic rat. Montigny was no Cortez, but he knew enough about art to recognize the impudent gaucheries of Valcour's work. And he was obeying a sixth sense which had long been valuable to him.

The Art Mart, on Eighth Street, was an artistic supply house which dealt, as a not so rushing sideline, in the work of contemporary masters and a few contemporary models. Montigny looked over the canvases and watercolors offered for sale before inquiring for the manager. In a display window was one that he recognized—Bleak Day on Bleeker Street. Inside there were three others which bore the bold, self-confident signature, "Valcour," in their lower corners. But there was no sign of a gold-fish, hemmed in by blue or any other color.

The proprietor, whom Montigny presently consulted, was a Russian-looking young lady with slicked-down black hair.

"Valcour?" she said. "Oh, yes. We have some of his most important work." She led the way rapidly to the front of the store where the pictures were exhibited. "We have had quite a few inquiries for his watercolors of late."

"Indeed?" murmured Montigny. "I was interested in one which I believe you had in your window recently, but I do not see it now—Goldfish Surrounded by Blue."

"Ah, yes. We sold that. Only this morning. But the one which we have in the window now—Bleak Day on Bleeker Street, it is called—I really believe is more effective."

"But what I wanted was the Goldfish," said Montigny regretfully. "Why didn't I come back, before it was too late? May I ask whom you sold it to?—perhaps I may see the party."

The proprietress frowned thoughtfully. "Why, it was a cash sale—I made it myself—but I don't believe he mentioned his name."

"He took the picture with him—there was no delivery?"

"He came in his car. His Japanese chauffeur waited for the picture while we were wrapping it."

"Could you describe the gentleman?"

The young woman looked at him sharply. "What is this?" she demanded. "Why the inquisition?"

"I am of the police," said Montigny, displaying a badge. "This is an inquiry which in no sense involves you or your business, but I wish if possible to get in touch with the man who bought that picture."

"Oh! The tone of the proprietress was less tart than started now. "Why, he was a man of middle age, quite gentlemanly, rather scholarly. I should say, clean-shaven, I believe. No eye-glasses. He wore a gray suit, gray soft hat, gray shoes, I believe and black shoes. He had called up yesterday—that is, I suppose it was he. He said he had seen this picture in the window, and wanted to know whether we still had it. We did not have it, but we sent to the artist's studio and got it. It had been on exhibition here for quite a time, and the artist had taken it back; said he thought he had a sale for it. There had been another inquiry for it yesterday, I believe, but the customer bought something else."

"And you cannot remember anything more distinctive about the gentleman who bought the Goldfish?"

"Why, no. I can't say that I do."

"The chauffeur did not call his name?"

"No. I did not hear it if he did."

"He did not call the chauffeur's name?"

"No. Wait a minute—yes he did. What was it he called him? Something that suggested 'ju-jitsu'. He called him—Hitsu. That was the name."

"Hitsu. A scholarly gentleman with gray spots and a chauffeur by the name of Hitsu. That may help. But may I ask you please, if you hear from him again, will you get his name and address?"

"Surely. It isn't a case of—stolen goods, or anything?"

"Nothing like that," Montigny gave her his name and thanked her.

He sought out a telephone booth at a corner cigar store and called McEniry again.

"You want a Japanese chauffeur named Hitsu, or a man who employs one by that name?" chuckled McEniry. "That's a swell lead, now, ain't it? Why don't you stick to soap and telephones, Montigny?"

"The employment agencies," said Montigny. "There, possibly, is the only chance."

"All right. If you think it's important I'll have 'em casvassed—do it by telephone to save time. Where'll I call you if we have any luck?"

"I am going home—to Mrs. Elderbank's home."

Montigny was seated in Mrs. Elderbank's drawing-room, reading the crime news of the latest editions, forty minutes later, when Cupples brought him a detachable telephone and plugged it into a convenient connection.

"I think it is police headquarters, sir," said Cupples.

"How nice of you, Cupples. You need not stand outside the door and listen. You will hear nothing."

McEniry reported what might or might not be luck.

"We found five registered by the name of Hitsu," he said. "Two cooks, one butler, two chauffeurs. We checked the license list for the chauffeurs, so we have the home addresses they gave us as well as the chauffeurs, or all five?"

"Just the chauffeurs for today, thank you."

Five minutes later Montigny was bound up in quest of two employers of chauffeurs by the name of Hitsu.

At the first of the two addresses he had luck of a sort. At a hotel-apartment house on Central Park West there was supposed to live a Jacob Schurman who had been employed through an agency, two weeks ago, a chauffeur called Hitsu. But Mr. Schurman had departed.

He had been there under a transient arrangement. The superintendent and the telephone operator understood he had sailed for Europe this day at noon. Evidently the Japanese servant had gone with him.

Montigny's luck obtained him permission to look over the small suite recently vacated by Mr. Schurman. The rooms had been cleaned, and there was small likelihood he would find anything.

There was nothing, indeed, to reward Montigny for his search of the rooms, with the exception of one item.

In the dark corner of a clothes closet his flashlight picked out a glazed and rather heavily framed watercolor painting.

It depicted a slightly hump-backed goldfish, disconsolately poised in an indigo ocean.

"Goldfish," exclaimed Montigny. "Surrounded by Blue!"

Montigny examined the curious picture with a thoroughness that an academician might have lavished on a suspected Rembrandt. He was more interested, however, in the back of it than the face. He took it to a window and examined the backing of stiff brown paper. It was a large picture and its frame was deep and rather heavy for so fragile subject as the goldfish.

Montigny shook the picture and nothing rattled. Yet the unaided eyes could tell that between the face of the picture, next the glass, and the brown paper backing, there was a space of at least two inches' depth.

The detective inserted a knife blade beneath the adhesive paper on the back, and heatiated. He went to the bathroom of the departed Jacob Schurman's suite and turned on the hot water. It ran steaming within a minute—he could loosen the gummed paper by this method—but still Montigny hesitated. There might be finger-prints which would be obliterated by the steam. Of course there would be a maze of them—a great many people had handled the picture. But still—

Montigny telephoned headquarters. McEniry had gone for the day, but Sergeant Darden was there. "I am coming down at once," said Montigny, "with something to be examined by Captain Noble or one of his men. But my chief concern is Valcour—is he safe in jail?"

"No!" shouted Darden with an oath. "He's on the lam—has a gone goose! Those dubs I had tail in him let him get away; they thought he was safe, in jail."

"Who got him out?" asked Montigny quickly.

"Cash bond. Somebody sent around the money by a messenger boy—we don't know who. It was only twenty-five dollars. It's our own fault—we're a bunch of hicks. Why, have you got something new on him?"

"It looks that way," said Montigny. "I shall be down at once to show you."

There was no time to lose, but Montigny swiftly interrogated the superintendent and telephone operator again, as well as the elevator men.

They all agreed that Jacob Schurman wore a gray suit and hat, gray silk gloves. He was a nice gentleman of middle age, quiet and amiable. Nobody had got very well acquainted with him, he had been there such a short time. He had registered from Philadelphia. Hitsu had gone up to his suite once or twice in the service elevator, but the elevator man found him uncommunicative. He did not speak very good English. Usually he had waited outside in the car after asking the telephone operator to advise Mr. Schurman that he was hand. The car was an expensive American eight. No one knew where garage Mr. Schurman patronized. (To Be Continued)

They've never met

-YET ALL AGREE on ONE THING!

Different incomes, different interests and they live in different worlds — yet there is one thing all three of these women have in common — they all know how to live smartly, stylishly and economically.

Cake baking may some day give way to country clubs—sewing circles to social secretaries. Bank accounts may grow and living habits change through the years, but there is one habit these women will never forget — it is the habit of smart, thrifty, economical buying.

That is Why all Three Have Chosen the
